As an African when I was looking for options of studying abroad I did some research on the best countries to study and when it came to Asia the top 3 where 1.CHINA. 2.SINGAPORE 3.MALAYSIA and I fell in love with how convenient Malaysia was, the diversity of different cultures, the proximity to my culture when it involves food, religion, culture and the fact that English is widely familiar to locals and the medium for university and schools served as a great advantage. I also found that universities were quite affordable but still offer quality education
